

Animals graze in pastures that protect both soil and the environment.