Grain Judging Team

Top row—WATSON, VON TREBRA
Second row—CHURCHILL, ZAHNLEY, HOOVER

The College grain judging team placed fourth in the first annual Intercollegiate Grain Judging Contest held in Chicago, December 6, 1923, in connection with the International Livestock Exposition.

This contest being the first of an international nature has created a great deal of interest among the colleges eligible for competition. This contest promises to be a permanent part of the "International."

The team was composed of the following seniors in the division of Agriculture: W. H. Von Trebra, Oswego; Edward Watson, Osage City; M. M. Hoover, Burlingame; and B. R. Churchill, Piatt, Illinois. Much credit is due Prof. J. W. Zahnley for his work as coach of the team.

THE Grain Judging Team placed first in the Crops Judging contest at the International Hay and Grain Show held in Chicago November 27, 1926. This is the second time in the last three years that the team from K. S. A. C. has won first place in this contest. Both years they were in competition with teams from eight states.

The team was awarded a silver trophy by the Union Stockyards and Transit Company, and a $250 scholarship by the Pullman Company.

The team placed first in commercial grading, second in identification of crops, and fourth in comparative placing. The individual rankings in all classes were: E. B. Coffman, Manhattan, third; Albert Watson, Osage City, fifth; S. M. Raleigh, Clyde, sixth. Placings in the individual classes show high ranking for each man on the team. Coffman was first in judging alfalfa seed and soybeans, tied for first in grading oats and cotton, and was second in all classes of commercial grading. Watson was high man in stapling cotton and in judging wheat, and tied for first with Coffman in grading cotton. Raleigh was high man in grading hay and second in grading cotton.

Loren F. Uengeheuer, of Centerville, was alternate. The team was coached by Prof. J. W. Zahnley and Prof. C. D. Davis.
